A Springtime Walk for All Members of the Family!

Easily accessible from the surrounding roads and neighborhoods, this trail, beginning near Readington School and ending at Pine Bank Road, is part of an extended trail network in the central part of Readington. There are some new and some restored trails in the preserve to show off. On this walk we plan to also explore the "Round Field," site of Ancient Native American activity, and the Holland Brook stream environs, walking approximately three miles.
